

Red Door Events Service Net

Andy Roddick recorded the fastest ever serve at an astonishing 155mph, but how would you match up?

Red Door Events will provide a fully branded state of the art service net, inviting the public to test their service skills and speed. They can be coached by a tennis professional to maximize their serve, enabling them to record their fastest serve.

You can use a tournament participant to set the bench mark and then you can invite guests to try and emulate their performance or even better it. The footage of the clients or guests serve can be recorded and replayed on screens next to the service area with a message of encouragement for members of the public.

The service net will act as an excellent visual and will be fun for all ages and abilities. This can be both fun and competitive, with prizes given each day to the member of the public with the fastest serve.
